wife, Mrs P M Lucas, and a great many others of various nationalities.

Ed Dowsett, Edmund Stiles, G E Smithies and Lionel Hart were the ushers. A E Murphy and Fred Weed took care of the galleries.
A squad of police 22 strong, under Captain Holt, was drawn up as a guard of honor on the street in front of the cathedral.
Accompanying the hearse from the house was a platoon of police as body bearers. Marshal Brown and Senior Captain Parker attended in full uniform. A mounted patrolman was present to regulate vehicles.

The casket was borne up the aisle, attended by the pall bearers who, as announced in yesterday's issue, were: Minister S M Damon, August Ahrens, Godfrey Brown, Justice W A Whiting, B F Dillingham, J F Hackfeld, F A
Schaefer, Dr McKibbin, H Focke, Dr Miner, S C Allen and Senator G N Wilcox.

It was what is technically called a black cloth draped casket, with silver handles running lengthwise. The name plate was inscribed thus: "Hermann A.
Widemann; Born Hildesheim, Germany, December 24, 1822;
Died Honolulu, H. I., February 7, 1899."

The Bishop of Panopolis, who conducted the services, had held a levee du corps at the house just before the body was removed thence. His lordship now met the body at the main entrance, where he was awaited by an escort of acolytes bearing tall candles, holy water and incense.

Beautiful ilima leis nearly hid the lid of the casket, but, on this being laid on the bier, were immediately covered with a pall.

Following the body were the chief mourners, viz: Mrs Widemann, leaning on the arm of her eldest son, Carl A Widemann; Mrs C O Berger and Miss Unna Widemann, Mr and Mrs H R Macfarlane, Mr and Mrs F W Macfarlane, Mr and Mrs J M Dowsett, Mr and Mrs W Lanz, Mr and Mrs Chris Conradt. Hermann, the youngest son, is in San Francisco.

Bishop Gulstan was assisted in rendering the Libera by Fathers Matthias and Clement, and Deacons Aloys and Julian. As the body was being carried up the aisle, Father Valentin and the choir sang the Meseremini to the leader's own accompaniment on the organ. During the service at the bier soft Gregorian music was played. While the body was being slowly borne to the hearse, the English song, "Jesus, Be His Rest Eternal," by Rosewig was given beautifully. It is a remarkably fine composition, and its rendering on this occasion caused many admiring comments amongst the concourse.

Interment was in the Widemann plot at Nuuanu cemetery. The procession was a very long one. It was headed by the police guard of honor. Ed. A. Williams the undertaker had four black horses, caparisoned in black netting, to draw the hearse. Chas.
H. Bellina, manager of the Club stables, was the driver.
Owing to the desire in the dead man's will for a simple funeral, the Government band only met the cortege at the grave. There, while the Bishop rendered the regular service, the band softly played "The Sweet Bye and Bye." Immediately about the grave ample space was kept clear for the clergy and the mourners, which was a decided reform compared with the crush that sometimes creates most unseasonable annoyance.

When the last narrow bed of the departed was filled up with mother earth, the mound was densely covered with the emblematic designs and other floral tokens. Conspicuous among these were the Hawaiian flag weaved in natural colors by Mrs. W. Luther Wilcox, a massive cross from the Hawaiian Bar and "Gates Ajar" given by Mrs. E. D. Tenney.

AFTER ISLAND TRADE.

Fleet of American Vessels Bound for Hawaiian Ports.

San Francisco, January 29.— American shipping to the Hawaiian Islands has rapidly increased since the annexation of the little mid-Pacific republic to the territory of the United States.
There are now loading for or on the way to the islands fifty vessels, of which thirty-five fly the American flag, five the British, three the Norwegian and two the German. The vessels aggregate in all $50,000 tons and they hail from New York, Baltimore, Norfolk, Calita Buena, Hongkong, Iquique, London, Liverpool, Newcastle, N. S. W., Santa Rosalia, Westport, N. Z., and Yokohama. The vessels from Newcastle are loaded with coal.
Those from the Chilean ports are in ballast and are after sugar cargoes, but all the others carry their holds full of general merchandise.

Upon honor, there is no better than we have ever tried, and we have used many kinds.—
